Dear Jeffrey,

I'm in Monaco having spent the day with Alain and his top students. In all my years of searching out metaphysical experiences and evidence of transformational human evolution, I have never seen as much evidence of both as I have seen today. Two of Alain's students are able to see colours non-stop, and can decode them in a way that brings deep insight into their own situation and the situations of others. He is able to identify the foundation of a student's psychological structure, and thereby the core causes of their dysfunctionality, allowing them to evolve to a higher level of understanding.

The more time I spend with Alain, the more convinced I am that our project is an exceptional one and will demonstrate a significant breakthrough in terms of new data in this area, and contribute to our understanding of consciousness and human evolution.

We have a high profile, highly regarded group of International Scientists who have reserved time in their departments and must now start or commit to other projects. The protocol now includes the modifications you suggested - comprehensive controls and the testing of a second teacher. Everyone is ready to begin, but I must first confirm your approval of the budget.

I look forward to hearing from you confirming that you are happy to proceed, or have any final questions. I have told the scientific team that I will give them a definitive go/no-go by next week.

And let me wish you Shana Tova.

And a hurricane free year.

Many thanks,

Peter Fenwick
