Yesterday I submitted, and the University accepted, my request to retire from my position as Professor at ASU, on May 16, 2019. The University has now fully closed its review process. My choice to retire at this time is dictated by the draconian regulations of the Arizona Board of Regents, under which I would have only been allowed to actually confront and test the veracity of my accusers AFTER I would agree to be dismissed as opposed to being allowed to retire.

To be clear, I have never harassed or assaulted anyone and have most certainly not exhibited gender bias in my professional dealings at the University or elsewhere. Based on what has been reported to me by the University, none of my students, departmental staff, faculty colleagues, research colleagues and postdoctoral fellows, or participants in the Origins events I led over the past decade at ASU, has ever issued any allegations or complaints to the University regarding my behavior.
