Dear Richard,

I now have confirmation from Fallani that the two boys indeed came from him. Sadly, he has no documentation from the 1960s so there isn't proof. However, with the information provided by the Greek and Roman department at the MET, we have enough provenance to be able include the two boys as well as the Herakles in a future sale, as the curator listed them both in an inventory from the early 1990s. So, if and when Mr. Epstein wants to test the auction market, we are good to go.

Cheers,

Max

We are making progress. I have confirmation of the Mitchell provenance back to the 90's and also the name of the dealer from whom the Herakles may have come from. I am more than happy to speak to Mr. Epstein. What is the best time to reach him?

Dear Richard,

We now have independent confirmation that the marbles were in the Jan Mitchell collection. The earliest date we have is circa 2010 which is not sufficient for auction. The next step would either be to contact the dealer from who your client acquired them or alternatively the son of Mitchell to see if either have further info.

We look forward to hearing from you.

All the best,

Max

Hi Richard,

I was told that they have a file on Mitchell's collection, and from the descriptions, the curator (not in the office today) thought they sounded familiar. Alex, whom you met last week, and copied here, will go to the MET on Tuesday or Wednesday next week to search through the file.

In the meantime, if you hear anything further, just let me know.

Cheers,

Max

Dear Richard,

I checked on the Jan Mitchell lead, and unfortunately Christie's never appraised his collection. Part of it was gifted to the MET and I am friendly with the curatorial staff there- do you want me to check in with them to see if they have any knowledge about these marbles?

All the best,

Max

Dear Richard,

It was a pleasure meeting with you last week and a thrill to see the incredible Roman marble Hercules and the two-figure group. As I explained during the visit, the only way for me to supply a correct value on them is to have the details of their provenance. I very much look forward to hearing from you, and as soon as I have that info, I will be able to respond immediately.

I hope this finds you well, and I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

G. Max Bernheimer
