COLUMBUS DISPATCH: "Les Wexner renounces Republican Party affiliation after Obama stops in Columbus": "After former Democratic President Barack Obama made a quiet stop in Columbus on Thursday night, the wealthiest Republican supporter in the state told a small audience at a Downtown event that he is fed up and has quit the Republican Party.

"I just decided I'm no longer a Republican," said L Brands CEO Leslie H. Wexner, speaking during a panel discussion about civility at Miranova's Ivory Room billed as a 'Columbus Partnership and YPO Leadership Summit.'

"I'm an independent," he said. 'I won't support this nonsense in the Republican Party. I've been a Republican since college, joined the Young Republican Club at Ohio State.'" Columbus Dispatch

-- WEXNER has given to just one candidate this cycle: NRCC Chairman Steve Stivers, who represents the Columbus area.
