I hear you - but for the record - the state of emergency for the territory only suspended specific statutes - and the requirement to get a permit for anything was not one of them. That being said - if you were repairing or replacing a septic - this is any easy issue to address. In the alternative - if the septic was part of the construction contemplated by the permits we submitted - we can deal with that as well. I just need to know what it going on :)

Good day Jeffrey. Please see attached letter from Vonetta.

Couple of items:

1. If you send me the appropriate photos of the maintenance/repair work being done on the septic - we will submit the Maintenance Waiver form asap.
2. I don't know where she got that boat work is being done - but she raised it at our meeting and Cecile and I advised her she was incorrect and that it was about removing the boat on the beach - not repairing it. I will dispel any notion of boat repairs in my response to her.

The septic issue is easy enough to resolve.
