The old ductwork in the master bedroom was full of mold and removed. Reefco is now preparing to do the same thing to the Master bath side.

Mold means moisture. The environment here is humid. The cold indoors against the hot outdoors makes everything in between sweat - ductwork, stone walls, etc. We even see the moisture around the edges of the floor.

Let me talk to Mike about possibilities for moving air and/or wicking moisture in the attic - attic fans, desiccant, DamRid, special lighting, etc. Will do some research and get back to you.

The light gray section is the normal color.

All the duct in the bath is now being removed also. The bath and the bedroom are separate systems.
