We create purpose built smart electric vehicles for subscription.

We are a multicultural group of designers, engineers, and technology and marketing experts that have successfully worked together before.

We want to solve the hassles of car ownership and urban transportation.

We will launch a series of vehicles starting from 2021.

We have a global presence with headquarters in Los Angeles and offices in Shanghai and Silicon Valley.

We will achieve our financial goals through an innovative, sustainable business model that has a high barrier to entry and does not require dealerships or company owned manufacturing facilities.
