please explain how you unilaterally decide to use LSJ petty cash to make loans...
please do not ever do this again as the Petty Cash is Mr Epsteins money and not yours..
thank you

Greetings Stephanie,

Have you filled in on the letter draft the date that Kyle Steward received the loan from LSJE petty cash?

Greetings Stephanie,

Attached please find the termination draft letter for Kyle Steward. A check in the net amount of $600 will be produced which reflects payment for services rendered on 12/28 & 12/29/18, 2/19-2/22/19 and 2/25/19, minus the $240 loan amount.

The attached letter contains acknowledgment of the loan via LSJE petty cash. You are confirming the date of the loan.

Please advise if you have any questions or concerns, or edits.

Good morning,

Kyle Steward will be released today.

He is owed payment for work on the following days: 02/19, 02/20, 02/21, 02/22, and 02/25.

I also requested pay for Kyle for two additional days that were missed in one of Kyle's previous paychecks. Correspondence with Karen attached. Because this oversight was an internal error and it is owed to him, I loaned him $240 from Petty Cash with the arrangement that he would pay Petty Cash back once these two days were paid to him. To my knowledge this is still under review.

If Kyle has still not been paid for the two missed days, I would like to ask that these two days owed to him be paid/credited to LSJE Petty Cash.

If Kyle has been paid for the two missed days, I would like to ask that this amount be withheld from his final paycheck as he still owes it to Petty Cash.

Please prepare payment and the release letter for Kyle and call or text me when it is available for signature and pickup at [REDACTED].

Thank you,
Stephanie Remington
