Has the “Great March of Return” been successful?

It has now been more than a year since Palestinians began the “Great March of Return” protests. They were originally planned as a six-week non-violent campaign by Palestinians demonstrating at the Gaza border fence with Israel. Instead, weekly riots have been staged with “peaceful protestors” throwing rocks, burning tires, setting off bombs, launching rockets and incendiary devices and seeking to sneak into Israel to kidnap soldiers and murder Jews in their homes.

"The Truth About Those Pro-Israel 'Benjamins'" by Mitchell Bard

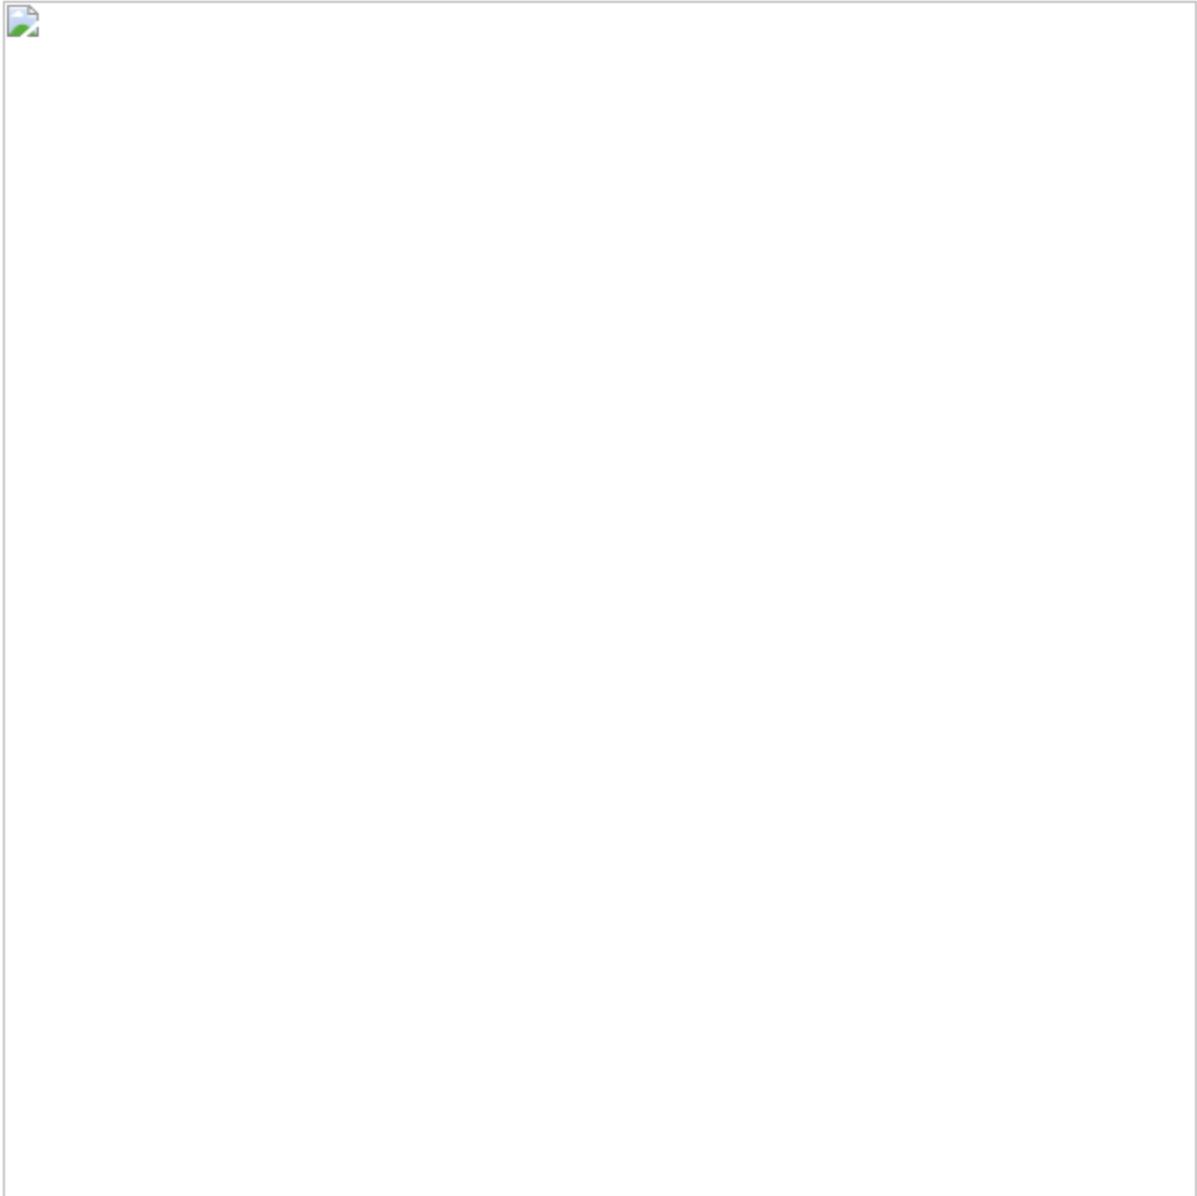

When Congresswoman Ilhan Omar (D-MN) tweeted, "It's all about the Benjamins baby," suggesting that US politicians support Israel because they are bribed to do so, it ignited an uproar.

In reality, American support for Israel is rooted in our shared values and interests, and the overwhelming support of the public. This does not mean, however, that money has no influence on politics; otherwise, no one would make political contributions. When it comes to campaign financing, the pro-Israel community, which includes many non-Jews, plays by the same rules as everyone else — and the amounts actually involved may surprise you.
