Exhibitions in
New York, London, Stockholm,
Zürich, Vienna and Paris

New York, Almine Rech Gallery

Joe Andoe: Jubilee City

“you might say that Andoe has fused post-modern figuration with views rooted in the Old West. His paintings can evoke the days when cowboys and their loyal horses flashed across the big screen at the drive-in” - Deborah Solomon

Stockholm, Galleri Magnus Karlsson

Bella Rune: XYZ

“in this exhibition, I have reflected on my previous work on a series of mohair yarn sculptures, scrutinised the knowledge formation in them from every angle and explored construction types beyond that of load-bearing” - Rune

 Lullin + Ferrari

Zürich, Lullin + Ferrari

Correspondance

an exhibition showing the various ways artworks can be received, using a diversity of media including video, installation, photography, sculpture and paintings

London, Hayward Gallery

Kader Attia: The Museum of Emotion

Attia's first UK survey exhibition traces several strands of the artist's playful and thought-provoking work from the past two decades, questioning our ideas about wholeness and injury, authenticity and repair, belonging and otherness

Vienna, Galerie Lisa Kandlhofer

Great Patterson: Planes & Mountains

Patterson's works have a strong relationship with American popular culture in as much as they long for real memories, residing in the place between real things and invented things

more exhibitions in Vienna

 Luxembourg & Dayan

New York, Luxembourg & Dayan

Derrick Adams: Interior Life

new works by Adams on the intimate spaces of one's mind and home, in an exhibition curated by Francesco Bonami

 Alex Katz: Black Paintings

Alex Katz

Black Paintings

Katz's paintings are at once figurative and abstract – his larger-than-life portraits and landscapes looming over their observers. In Black Paintings though, the subjects are assigned to the margins with black space occupying most of each canvas, with striking depth and diversity of black paint, contrasted against the dramatically studio-lit figures
