Hello Jeffrey!

I'm very sorry about everything what is going on with your life.. I hate to bother you about my personal problem, I wouldn't if it wasn't my last choice..

This problem might affect my upcoming interview.

[REDACTED] is moving out of his apartment by the end of the week and he can't afford any place right now(because of the personal problems happened last month).

He asked me if he can stay with me for a month until he will get the money by the end of the month.

I know your rules and would never break them. I was hoping you could meet my need in this situation where my marriage can fall apart.

[REDACTED] would never understand that his wife wouldn't help when he is in trouble. I know he would never let this happen to me.

Could I ask you please to let him stay with me for a month? He is working all days, he just needs a place to sleep and shower. He will leave all this stuff at his office.

I'm sorry for asking, but this problem might can get me in trouble right before the interview.

Thank you for understanding. if I could call you and give you more details, I absolutely would
