I would appreciate if you could tell me when you have time what I should do in specific in order to improve (besides what [REDACTED] already doing) since it seems that what [REDACTED] doing is not good enough...

Right. I just wanted to ask you if you would appreciate it before spending time and money on it. I guess being thoughtful is meaningless... I think of you all the time and as I told you before I would love to learn something that I can do for you, that can make you happy. I didn't expect any thank you in return, just an approval before starting.

Selling tickets at the door in order to help my cousin maintain the family castle insn't doing ? Finding relevant people to discuss ideas and solutions for this place that I'm deeply attached to ? Working with photographer ? Learning to cook ? Exercising ? I'm trying to deliver things in my own little way.

If you have anything else specific in mind that you think I should do, deliver and produce that is in my capacity or something that can make you really happy please let me know.

do you really think ? checking out a class deserves even a thank you, you have checked out hundreds of things. . doing , delivering. producing. is what is important. thinking about things. is meaningless.

I would love to transform the castle into a private club with very exclusive rooms, a wellness and where people can hold conferences during the year. That's why I was talking with Luca del Bono. In these days I've been helping out my cousin with the castle, working selling tickets at the entrance and learning how to cook ! I was also checking out this massage class in Paris where I could take an intensive course. I would love to learn something new that I can do for you. Hope you are well. Miss you
