this is unacceptable on many grounds. 1 Noam does not want their choice of trustee. . it is simple. 2. you may provide copies of the trusts. 3. The fact that Max wants a release is outrageous and we look to you to resolve this asap. .

Dear Noam and Valeria,

Just a very gentle reminder regarding my emails below. I hope you are both well, and that perhaps you are travelling. I will await your responses regarding a time to discuss the trustee list from Max, Max's requested release, and your permission to provide the marital trusts to Shari Levitan either through Max or from me directly.

Best,
Deborah

Noam and Valeria,
Please let me know when you might be available to speak about the trustee recommendations and the requested release. As I mentioned in my email yesterday I am available tomorrow except between 10:00 - 11:00. I am also available on Monday except between 11:00 and noon.
I look forward to hearing from you.
Best,
Deborah

Harry and I would appreciate it if Noam would (perhaps in consultation with Deborah, who is familiar with them) give some consideration to the trustees that have been proposed by Harry.

Good morning Noam –

As agreed, I have provided Harry with the names of three potential candidates as successor independent trustee of Carol's trusts. Harry has now spoken with each of them and is willing to appoint any one of them as my successor, if one of them is acceptable to you. Each of the candidates is an attorney in the Boston area with substantial experience in serving as a trustee and yesterday I provided their names to Deborah (who I understand knows two of them). The candidates are Marc Bloostein, of Ropes & Gray, George Cushing, of McLane Middleton and Arthur Page, of Hemenway & Barnes. Here are links to each of them:

I will look forward to hearing back from Deborah or you when you've had a chance to consider these candidates.

Thank you,

Max
