Hi Jeffrey,

I've been thinking of you and your quest for an experience that can lead to a mechanism. Qigong isn't surprising, given Shin Lin's frustrations with his research in that area. What other things have you tried to find it with? Any similar projects? I assume probably the equally unimpressive parapsychology world, at a minimum. Also, who were the 40 or so people you've tried so far? Ballpark is fine more than a list, though if you have kept a list that is okay to. I'm just trying to get a sense of the dry holes dotting your landscape so far.

Much Love,
Jeffery
