I know you are upset and wish it were otherwise. . Your private life is your own. . I respect that completely. I want you to have total privacy. . that being said , the following is the way I see it. of course it can be 100 percent wrong. . I was crystal clear that the real risk for casual sex in new york , with boys is disease. I explained in detail they whys and whats. . I believe you either chose to carelessly disregard what i had said. or intentionally ignored it . or got carried away for the moment. you had condom sex. (not only a blow job as you suggested), it most likely inspired a herpes outbreak (chemicals on condoms often do). you then ask to send you to gyno . no problem, you dont tell me about herpes. until swab comes back with positvie results. (not sure why you waited till then). and then only after seeing the very strong AUGementin suggestion it also appears that strep is a recent addition to the mix. my concern as you can gather from this is the timing and not full story , that it appears you decided to tell. . I am not sad . I just lack understanding. .
