25 pair copper Cat 3 outside plant 24 awg voice cable, is generally installed as aerial telephone cable between poles, in an underground conduit system, or by direct underground burial. Hardware associated with the outside plant must be either protected from the elements (for example, distribution frames are generally protected by a street side cabinet) or constructed with materials suitable for exposure to the elements.

This item is cut to length. Price is per foot.

Please note that this item is very heavy. Our online shopping cart will not be able to figure shipping charges if the length requested is over 150lbs. If you require a shipping estimate that the cart software is not able to provide, please contact us for a quote.
