

From: Eric Roth <[REDACTED]>

To: 'Jeffrey Epstein' <jeevacation@gmail.com>

Subject: Carpet Color

Date: Tue, 02 Jul 2013 17:14:19 +0000

Attachments: DSCN1111.JPG

Inline-Images: image007.jpg; image008.jpg; image009.jpg

Jeffrey -

I included a photo of the existing interior that you can use as a reference.

The blue ultrasuede has been sewn into the seat covers. We have not sewn the footrest covers, so you still have the option of not using the blue on this detail should you decide to use the wood color for the carpet.

My strong preference is to go with the blue carpet (either all loop to keep it simple and clean or use the loop as the field and incorporate a design pattern in the same color yarn in cut pile. I believe that the blue color is strong and will aesthetically ground and marry all of the color tones of the wood, the white and the plating. It also breathes "life" into the interior.

Personally, I find the wood color for the carpet to look dated.

There is a reason Baskin Robbins has 32 flavors, so this is simply my preference.

Your thoughts?

ERIC H. ROTH | PRESIDENT

