Subject: Earn your 2013 Khan Academy Patron badge

Date: Fri, 20 Dec 2013 02:47:56 +0000

Dear jeevacation,

Khan Academy is a non-profit that is now providing completely free education to over 10 million people every month. And by free, we really mean free: no ads, no hidden/paid features, no strings attached.

We want to make more lessons and reach more students around the world. So this month we're asking you to help us do this by giving you the first-ever chance to become a Khan Academy "Patron." Please donate now and join our awesome community of supporters as a 2013 Patron:

2013 Patron badge

Donate $10 to support new lessons

Donate before the end of the year and you'll receive the limited-edition 2013 Patron Badge. This badge signifies you are an early supporter of Khan Academy's bold mission: a free, world-class education for anyone, anywhere.

Thousands of Khan Academy users and fans have supported us so far, and we are so grateful.

You are receiving this occasional big announcement as a registered user on Khan Academy. If you'd prefer not to receive these infrequent emails, please unsubscribe.

P.S. To earn the badge, be sure you are logged in to Khan Academy first. If you want the badge to be given to another user's account, you need to be signed into that user's account.

Your badge is only viewable on your profile if you want it to be. Either way, we'll know and you'll know that you've done something awesome: become a 2013 Patron.
