A few weeks ago we sent you the attached invitation to a reception at our new and gorgeous offices on Thursday, March 10th, but we have not yet heard from you about whether you can attend. I certainly hope you can make it, but also would appreciate a response if you cannot. That's the only way we can be sure that this email invitation reached you. It's also the only way we can avoid having someone try to reach you by telephone, just to make sure we are getting through any filters you have. Thanks.

After four years in NYC
we decided it was time to find some religion.

So we moved

four blocks from Central Synagogue two blocks from St. Patrick's and next door to St. Bart's

(Yes, we covered our bases. We're lawyers, that's what we do.)

You're invited to celebrate our 4th year in New York City and our new, much larger, offices.
