We hereby submit a proposal for the following work:

Wendy as per out on site visit and going over the scope of work that you wanted done at this time. Where the finish has peeled off we will have to power wash those areas or scrape which ever works then apply a new basecoat, mesh and finish to those areas. This process will be done at the main house, mechanical building, and dog area and at the hardest hit area the courtyard walls which some of the built-outs on the corners of the pilasters will have to be redone. As I explained there are many areas throughout that the walls have serious cracks and that when we are power washing or working on the contract work some of these areas, there is going to be additional existing material falling off the wall. The reason this damage to the walls occurred is that moister got behind the finish and caused it to peel off. I would recommend applying the system throughout and encapsulating for a stronger hold and keeping the moister out. Not knowing where the moister went there might be many more areas that just haven't started to peel I felt areas that the base coat and the fabric separated but didn't peel or break open and with the changing weather I feel that sooner or later this will happen to the cracks that are not to be worked on and with that we can do the patch work mentioned we will not be able to warranty the work for that reason it will be the matter of time before the walls will have to be re-finished. I also want for you to be aware that a patch is a patch and it will be hard to match the existing texture before you put on your paint. If you have any questions please call.

Not a wage scale quote
