[REDACTED] had a relatively normal childhood. While her parents were not particularly affectionate in terms of no hugging or saying "I love you", they were good people. When [REDACTED] was approximately 15/16 years old, she sent her photo to a [REDACTED] agency. The agency contacted her, and she and her mother went to [REDACTED]. The agency "[REDACTED]" signed [REDACTED]. In 2001, [REDACTED] was in a model contest called "[REDACTED]". [REDACTED] [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] has modeled in [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] was scouted by an agency, [REDACTED], in New York. [REDACTED] invited [REDACTED] to New York and wanted her to apply for a tourist visa. [REDACTED] was not sure if the first visa was as a tourist or work. When [REDACTED] was 17 years old, her tourist visa was denied. In 2003, [REDACTED] work visa was approved. [REDACTED] received her visa in August 2003 when she was 18 years old. The next month [REDACTED] went to New York. [REDACTED] sponsored her work visa. the rent because she had to pay it back. [REDACTED] had a booker who told her to lose weight; she did not have a lot of castings. [REDACTED] set up a gym membership and a diet for [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] did not have a lot of money; she lived off of popcorn and tuna.

On or about September 17, 2003, [REDACTED] attended a dinner. [REDACTED] recalled this exact date because it was the day "that affected the rest of my life". [REDACTED] thought that it was JEAN LUC BRUNEL's birthday. [REDACTED] thought that she had met BRUNEL previously [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] recalled there being a big table in the corner of the restaurant CIPRIANI. There were a lot of models present. EPSTEIN walked in and went straight towards [REDACTED]. EPSTEIN told the person sitting next to EPSTEIN to move; he sat down next to her and talked with her. EPSTEIN told [REDACTED] that he had an island and his friends were actors, including LEONARDO DICAPRIO. During this dinner, [REDACTED] had said that she wanted to be happy. EPSTEIN asked her if she wanted to be an actress. EPSTEIN tried to put his arm around her.

A day or so later, [REDACTED] received a call on her apartment landline from EPSTEIN's assistant [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] was invited to Palm Beach for the weekend. [REDACTED] originally said no because she thought it was strange. That same day EPSTEIN called her and asked her to go to Palm Beach, saying, "No pressure...come relax...get in shape". [REDACTED] thought why not go so she went. Or or about September 20, 2003, [REDACTED] was in Palm Beach. She knew it was around this date because she found a photo dated that was taken in Palm Beach. EPSTEIN arranged [REDACTED] flight but did not remember the particulars on who exactly arranged the flight. When [REDACTED] arrived in Palm Beach, an assistant opened the door. [REDACTED] thought the assistant may have been [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] was impressed; the house was beautiful. EPSTEIN took [REDACTED] to a cabana and they talked for a while. EPSTEIN seemed very smart; they talked about psychology, the difference between men and women, and what [REDACTED] wanted to do with her life. EPSTEIN paid [REDACTED] a lot of attention. EPSTEIN knew [REDACTED] was trying to lose weight. When they were by the pool, EPSTEIN made comments to [REDACTED]. EPSTEIN took [REDACTED] upstairs to the bathroom/massage room. EPSTEIN had [REDACTED] look in the mirror, and he pointed out the body parts that she needed to lose. EPSTEIN grabbed her and told her it was dead tissue. EPSTEIN had [REDACTED] get on the table and cracked her back.

EPSTEIN then had [REDACTED] turn over and made a comment on her hips. EPSTEIN grabbed a vibrator and put it on her genital area and moved it around to other places. [REDACTED] had an orgasm, which she had not experienced before with other men. EPSTEIN was upbeat and said, "Lucky you". [REDACTED] was embarrassed. EPSTEIN did not push things further at this point.

A few days later [REDACTED] went with EPSTEIN on his plane to his island. EPSTEIN took her on a tour on his four-wheeler. [REDACTED] had her own room on the island. There were other women around and everyone seemed happy. [REDACTED] slept in her own room, but in the mornings, EPSTEIN would get in her bed and touch her. [REDACTED] was shy and inexperienced. [REDACTED] did not want things to go further and did not want to have sex. EPSTEIN told [REDACTED] that it was all for her. EPSTEIN told [REDACTED] she needed to breathe to get in tune with her own body. [REDACTED] recalled the women on the island being [REDACTED], [REDACTED], [REDACTED], and another girl. [REDACTED] remembered seeing [REDACTED] name on the flight logs and that is how she knew she was present for this trip. [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] were EPSTEIN's assistants. [REDACTED] assumed the other women were like her with no defined role. EPSTEIN told his assistants to do things, run errands, schedule flights, interact with the staff. [REDACTED] thought that she went back to New York on a commercial flight.

On or about October 2003, [REDACTED] went back to [REDACTED]. EPSTEIN knew [REDACTED] was in her last year of high school; she had told him she needed to go back. EPSTEIN told [REDACTED] there was a way for her to not have to go back; he told her she could take a test to earn her GED. This way she would be able to travel with EPSTEIN. EPSTEIN told [REDACTED] that she should learn to take care of him. [REDACTED] had to study for the TOEFL test before she could earn her GED.

On or about December 2003, [REDACTED] went back to New York. EPSTEIN offered for [REDACTED] to stay an apartment at 301 East 66th Street. In December, [REDACTED] would have had her prom in [REDACTED], but went back to New York knowing that she would miss it. [REDACTED] was not sure if she lived alone at the apartment initially or if [REDACTED] was already living there. Before [REDACTED] moved into this apartment, EPSTEIN had invited [REDACTED] to go to his home at 9 East 71st Street. This was prior to EPSTEIN and [REDACTED] having sex; EPSTEIN invited her to his home to sleep with him without having sex.

[REDACTED] traveled everywhere with EPSTEIN, including New York, Florida, the island, New Mexico, Paris, Disneyland, and other trips. [REDACTED] applied for an ID with EPSTEIN's Florida residence. Florida was [REDACTED] official home, but she thought that she considered New York her home.

[REDACTED] had a relationship with EPSTEIN until approximately August 2010. [REDACTED] no longer traveled with him. Over time, the frequency of travel changed. Initially, [REDACTED] traveled all the time but as time passed, the travel became less and less. [REDACTED] recently learned EPSTEIN traveled with other women but she did not know that at the time. The times where [REDACTED] did not travel with EPSTEIN, he had told her not to travel with him.

In 2004, [REDACTED] traveled with [REDACTED], [REDACTED], [REDACTED], [REDACTED], GHISLAINE MAXWELL, and other women who came in and out. [REDACTED] traveled a lot with [REDACTED] and EPSTEIN. [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] became friends; [REDACTED] [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] were also roommates. [REDACTED] was older than [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] thought [REDACTED] was an architect; she was older than [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] was born in [REDACTED] so she was older than [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] did not seem to have an official role and eventually became an assistant.

BRUNEL was very close friends with EPSTEIN. BRUNEL and EPSTEIN joked around together. BRUNEL traveled with EPSTEIN and [REDACTED]. BRUNEL encouraged [REDACTED] to be nice to EPSTEIN and to take care of him. BRUNEL showed [REDACTED] how to massage EPSTEIN's feet.

EPSTEIN described MAXWELL as his best friend. MAXWELL's role seemed to be that of a "queen". MAXWELL oversaw things including managing EPSTEIN's houses. Initially, MAXWELL slept in EPSTEIN's bed when she traveled with them. MAXWELL was in charge of the staff. [REDACTED] thought MAXWELL thought MAXWELL and EPSTEIN were in a relationship. [REDACTED] did not think EPSTEIN told MAXWELL about [REDACTED] and EPSTEIN being together. [REDACTED] recalled a trip to the ranch in mid-2004 when MAXWELL was with them. When MAXWELL did not travel with them, [REDACTED] slept in EPSTEIN's bed, then he had [REDACTED] sleep with him. [REDACTED] was scared of MAXWELL. EPSTEIN told MAXWELL that he wanted [REDACTED] to sleep in his bed. [REDACTED] did not think MAXWELL was happy about it. This was when sleeping arrangements began to change.

[REDACTED] worked for MAXWELL as her assistant. [REDACTED] also worked for MAXWELL as her assistant. [REDACTED] thought that it seemed like a lot of women transitioned roles. [REDACTED] thought [REDACTED] and EPSTEIN had a relationship as well at some point. There was also another woman that was an assistant of who [REDACTED] could not remember. [REDACTED] thought [REDACTED] was also MAXWELL's assistant at some point before she became EPSTEIN's assistant. [REDACTED] recalled [REDACTED] being an assistant in approximately 2005/2006. [REDACTED] was also in charge of assistants some of the time. [REDACTED] thought [REDACTED] may have also been EPSTEIN's assistant at some point.

[REDACTED] described that if an outsider came to the house everyone there seemed happy. However, there was a lot of tension in the house. EPSTEIN pitted the women against each other. There was a lot of secrecy. EPSTEIN told them not to discuss him with other people. EPSTEIN told them to tell people, "If you have a question about Jeffrey, ask Jeffrey.". [REDACTED] thought she did not trust anyone to tell people what was going on with her and EPSTEIN.

While EPSTEIN was in jail in the mid-2000s, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] were at his house most of the time; they lived there. EPSTEIN hired [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] to work in the office. [REDACTED] heard they were working as paralegals.

In approximately 2008, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] relationship began to change as they bonded more. They did not have a normal relationship, but it became better. In or around 2010, they became friends.

In approximately 2006, when EPSTEIN and [REDACTED] were on his island, EPSTEIN told her that a woman was arrested on a drug charge and to save herself she redirected the attention to him. EPSTEIN told her this in person because he did not want to tell her on the phone. [REDACTED] knew this girl to be [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] did not know when she learned the name of the girl but knew her when EPSTEIN had told her the girl's name. At some point, [REDACTED] learned that EPSTEIN's charge was about prostitution.

The general sense was that EPSTEIN was being treated unfairly and women were setting him up to get money. [REDACTED] believed this narrative. [REDACTED] felt protective of EPSTEIN and felt bad for him. EPSTEIN gave her examples of women blackmailing him. [REDACTED] thought maybe he mentioned about five women blackmailing him. EPSTEIN told [REDACTED] this before she learned about the investigation. [REDACTED] thought EPSTEIN told [REDACTED] the same things; EPSTEIN shared his narrative openly. EPSTEIN told [REDACTED] that if she was approached, she was not to talk to anyone and tell EPSTEIN or find a lawyer. Articles then started to come out. [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] eventually had conversations about it. [REDACTED] thought they talked after EPSTEIN left. [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] thought "it was bullshit". This was their view at the time. [REDACTED] view has since changed. [REDACTED] recalled reading an article about items being removed from EPSTEIN's house. [REDACTED] did not know anything about it or how items were removed. [REDACTED] recalled there being a lot of photos around the house but at some point that changed.

EPSTEIN had [REDACTED] talk to his lawyers. EPSTEIN wanted [REDACTED] to describe what happened in Florida and to talk about the women and sex acts in Florida. [REDACTED] went in with the mindset to be on EPSTEIN's side. The things that [REDACTED] shared were not horrible to the lawyers. [REDACTED] was asked about her interactions with other women.

[REDACTED] recalled a time on the ranch where she and [REDACTED] had a conversation with EPSTEIN about if he was going to see jail time. It came to the point where it seemed inevitable. EPSTEIN told them he was soliciting a prostitute. [REDACTED] did not remember if he told her the girl was underage. EPSTEIN said that the "women" lied about their ages; EPSTEIN said this a lot. [REDACTED] thought this was what she told her parents. [REDACTED] did not think she had conversations with others about it.

As of this interview, [REDACTED] had not spoken to [REDACTED] since early July 2019. Before this, [REDACTED] thought [REDACTED] shared similar views.

In 2008, EPSTEIN was in jail. EPSTEIN was "fully" there for three months. [REDACTED] thought EPSTEIN was on work release for approximately ten months. During this time, [REDACTED] stayed at EPSTEIN's house in Palm Beach, while also going to New York sometimes. EPSTEIN wanted [REDACTED] to be at every visitation, so she stayed at EPSTEIN's Palm Beach residence more. Frequent visitors to see EPSTEIN were also [REDACTED], BRUNEL, EPSTEIN's trainer IGOR, and TOMMY MATOLA. While [REDACTED] was at EPSTEIN's Palm Beach residence, [REDACTED] saw [REDACTED] and EPSTEIN's assistant [REDACTED] around the house. [REDACTED] was also staying at the residence and IGOR lived in the guest house.

While EPSTEIN was on house arrest, he became increasingly aggressive and irritable. EPSTEIN and [REDACTED] were not getting along. It was not working out as EPSTEIN became more aggressive with [REDACTED]. There was an incident in approximately 2009 where EPSTEIN was violent and it scared [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] packed her bags and went to New York. Afterwards, EPSTEIN convinced [REDACTED] to try again at their relationship. EPSTEIN and [REDACTED] separated in 2010. After the split, [REDACTED] stayed in New York. [REDACTED] thought EPSTEIN owned the apartment she was staying in; she was not paying any rent for the apartment.

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

After 2010, [REDACTED] had a physical relationship with EPSTEIN a few times. [REDACTED] did not want to have a physical relationship anymore but told EPSTEIN [REDACTED]. EPSTEIN told her no. EPSTEIN told [REDACTED] her role was not [REDACTED] but to have sex with him. [REDACTED] thought this may have been around 2012.

[REDACTED] started working somewhere else and lived in [REDACTED]. There were a number of years where she and EPSTEIN did not speak.

In or around 2018, EPSTEIN and [REDACTED] became more cordial and friendly. Any time there was a new article published or a new development, EPSTEIN and [REDACTED] would check in with each other. A few months before EPSTEIN was arrested in July 2019, [REDACTED] saw him and STEVE BANNON at EPSTEIN's house in New York. It was just the three of them. [REDACTED] walked in and saw EPSTEIN and BANNON sitting in the dining room exchanging friendly banter. EPSTEIN and BANNON asked [REDACTED] questions on how the situation was affecting her. [REDACTED] had the sense that they were trying to reboot his reputation. [REDACTED] had not been able to work and her association to EPSTEIN had made it difficult for her to have relationships. They asked a lot of questions. EPSTEIN seemed pleased that [REDACTED] cried during this conversation. This took place after the Miami Herald article was published. [REDACTED] left after this conversation.

After [REDACTED] split from EPSTEIN, life was hard for her because of her association to him. There were a lot of opportunities that fell through because of him. [REDACTED] told EPSTEIN about this and they came to an agreement. EPSTEIN offered to pay her double what she would make in any job. They called it "a double". EPSTEIN would wire the money to her. EPSTEIN covered [REDACTED] medical expenses and her [REDACTED]. In 2015, when [REDACTED] was deposed, EPSTEIN covered her legal fee. When bad articles came out, EPSTEIN copied her on an email telling someone to wire her money. [REDACTED] would ask EPSTEIN what the money was for and he told her it was because she deserved it. [REDACTED] sometimes went to EPSTEIN telling him that things were getting out of hand. EPSTEIN gave [REDACTED] statements of what she should say and what she should say about some people that [REDACTED] did not even know about. [REDACTED] did not know anything about [REDACTED]; she never met [REDACTED]. EPSTEIN wanted [REDACTED] to say that [REDACTED] was a liar and that PRESIDENT BILL CLINTON was never on EPSTEIN's island.

[REDACTED] and [REDACTED] had a lot of conversations because they felt they were in similar situations.

[REDACTED] recalled that after a breakup, [REDACTED] went to a movie premiere with a friend. MAXWELL was present. [REDACTED] later spoke with EPSTEIN and MAXWELL said from a distance that [REDACTED] looked cute and would be perfect for EPSTEIN.

[REDACTED] did not know if [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] introduced girls to EPSTEIN. [REDACTED] did not think this was their role. [REDACTED] knew that [REDACTED] introduced girls to EPSTEIN. [REDACTED] knew that others introduced girls to EPSTEIN.

[REDACTED] provided scans of photos from her time with EPSTEIN. These photos are attached in a 1A.
