

Respond?

From: [redacted] <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: hi david
Date: August 4, 2007 6:17:45 PM EDT
To: "David Copperfield" <[redacted]>

yo. good talking yesterday. I'm glad you were up at 6am. I've missed talking to you. sorry I couldn't understand you half the time, either it's my lack of coverage or your new iPhone....??? I'm still jealous.

so I'm trying to figure out this vegas trip. my friends [redacted] and I wanted to go sometime in september, and I just found out that Justin Timberlake is going to be at mandalay bay on saturday the first!!! I'm not even sure if there are still tickets, since they went on sale in april (!!!) but I would LOVE to surprise them with that, they would die, and I might actually pass out. I've only recently become a fan since his new album came out. What Goes Around is definitely one of my favorite songs of the summer... Anyway, enough about JT. That is my potential "window" of travel, I guess it's my ideal time if I can figure out the concert thing... let me know what you think and if you'll be there and if you can skip work and go to the show. haha. have you ever skipped work?
I doubt it.

On 7/31/07, David Copperfield <[redacted]> wrote:

Thanks for your email. I'd love to talk to you on the phone. Is there a good number to reach you? Let's keep in touch.

David
On Jul 31, 2007, at 11:43 AM, [redacted] wrote:

Hi! Thanks for your message and concern.
I have decided to stay up north for the summer. It's been nice getting away from the "daily grind" and just slow down for while. Life here is probably similar to the Bahamas... slower. It's a good break.
I did have to resign from my job in florida however to be up here, and so I'm trying not to feel premature stress about that before I even go back. at this point I am not sure what I will be doing when I return in september. I'll admit there's a bit of the unknown. but it's harder to embrace it when there's a mortgage to pay.
I hope things with you are well. thanks for checking up on me. I may be coming to vegas eventually. so I'll look you up if I do. love to see a show again. you can bring my friend up and cut her head off or something.

David
[redacted]

Keep me posted on your trip. I wish I had some contacts
w/ Just. Timb. but I don't know anyb
w/ his managen firm let me kn
if your coming or it would be good to catch up.
xo
David