Mr. Pop,

Please don't worry about the name mistake; it's quite alright. Thank you for reaching out on behalf of [REDACTED]. When we spoke with her we let her know that we were looking to speak with her and hear her story. I've let our Assistant United States Attorneys know that you've reached out. They will likely be in touch with you soon to touch base, answer questions, and set up a time to meet.

Thanks again for reaching out. We look forward to working with you.

Thanks,

Dear [REDACTED],

Please accept my apologies on my mistake on my e- mail regarding your first name in yesterday's e- mail.

That being said I look forward to working with you on this matter on behalf of my client.

Sincerely,

Jeff
