Dear Jeffrey,

Thank you very much for giving me the opportunity to participate at a safari. It was a truly wonderful experience, something I have dreamt of since I was a child.

I appreciate so much your kindness and thoughtfulness. To ask me what would make me happy and then give that to me, is the nicest thing anyone ever done to me.

I hope I soon will have the opportunity to, in person, describe all the exciting

My first night in Africa!
This photo is taken by self-timer
the first night when I arrived in Tanzania (the east coast) before traveling to the wildlife area Selous where the safari was.

I spend my first safari day with a game drive (travelling in a jeep) before noon and on a boat safari in the afternoon. The sunset at the boat safari was unbelievable beautiful.

The boats were very small and it felt a bit dangerous with the crocodiles and the hippos in the water, but as you can see in my eyes I felt very excited and happy.

At the game drives I saw all kind of animals except of cats. The buffalo above were massive.

I was really surprised by the large number of animals I saw.

I went on walking safaris a few times, which I found interesting. I walked for hours and had a guard with weapons with me. It was a very special feeling and I felt close to the nature.

I saw impalas every day, and they got really close to the tent where I lived.

I found the light in Africa very special, it was a beautiful light I never seen before. Between 5 pm and 7 pm was the best time.

This is me at a game drive.
Look at my eyes! I find this photo funny because I look like a child at Christmas who is going to open a present. I felt so happy!!!

There was a lot of hippos in the water and I got quite close to them. Impressive animals!

The only time I felt a bit insecure was at the boat safari. I was stupid enough to ask how long time I would survive if I fell into the water. The guide answered half a minute and I did not move after that answer 😊

The elephants were impressive, true survivors. In Selous, where the safari took place, hunting is not permitted so the elephants did not look at humans as enemies. I looked at them for hours.

In the evening, a guard followed me from my tent to a fire place where everyone that stayed at the camp had dinner. As you can see it was quite dark in the bush in the evening. Do you notice how satisfied I look at this photo, I felt brave!! 😊

The tents were big and comfortable.
The noises at night were fascinating.
So many noises I never heard before.
Some nights I could nearly not sleep because I found it so interesting trying to figure out what kind of animals
the noises come from.

The mornings were wonderful!!
I took this picture by self-timer and I like it very much because you can see how much I'm enjoying my self. They served tea and coffee with scones and I took my blanket with me from the bed, had breakfast in the middle of the bush, and felt very happy. ~~~~~
